A Farce in Eureka.

The charges against Cavanaugh, in Eureka, have been dismissed, the defendant's counsel and the District Attorney both agreeing that he could not be convicted. The Sentinel, in commenting on the case, says: We think, for the credit of the District Attorney, that he should have tried the case, whether he could have secured a conviction or not, and let the jury decide the matter. They might have taken a different view of the case from either himself or Mr. Rives, the defendant's counsel.

Bids solicited.

Bids will be received at the office of the Carson Bicycle Club up to July 25th for the services of a regular physician to attend the Club regularly and furnish lint, splints, medicine etc.,. None but responsible practitioners need apply. Club reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

—An attempt is being made to induce the Finlayson sisters of Reno, and Dickie Jose, to give a concert here.

—The Opera House promises on Wednesday evening to be filled with the most fashionable audience ever gathered there.

—FOUND—On the Springs road, a watch. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying for this advertisement.

—Henry Duffy, of the typographical staff of the Enterprise, and one of the winners of the big lottery prize, was in the city yesterday.

—Simmons the man tried for firing the Del Monte hotel, is now about to sue the company for $100,000 damages. He had better let well enough alone.

—There is the usual amount of excitement in the city over the prospect of work on the Government building, the public has experienced several false alarms already.

—Hugh Carlin, Assessor of Lyon, was in town on Sunday, offering to run a Lyon county horse against anything in Carson, or bring a man from Dayton to throw anybody in town any style.

—Everybody says now that Shaw's Hot Springs are better than ever, and the shower baths are exquisite. He is now at work on a new plunge bath to be covered, so as to be used in Winter as well as Summer.

—There is lots of truth in this from the Alta: The London papers indicate that Queen Kapiolani was not a welcome guest amongst the royal jubilees. Her Majesty is the equal of any of them in the antiquity and validity of her title, and as a woman of good principles she outranks many of them.

—Ross K. Colcord, of Aurora, has been in town for several days. He is waiting for the arrival from London of two members of the English syndicate, who recently purchased a number of mines near Aurora. They may be expected here daily, as a dispatch was received from New York dated July 9. Their visit is for the purpose of examining their property, with a view towards their early development.

ANOTHER BIG FIND.

What Was Unearthed Yesterday at the Prison Quarry

Those who take an interest in the archaeological researches at the State Prison will rejoice to learn that another remarkable discovery was made there yesterday morning at twenty minutes past ten o'clock.

William Johnson, one of the laborers in the quarry, went to tap the wall after a blast and was astonished to find that the rock gave back a hollow sound that revealed the presence of a subterranean chamber. Warden McCullough and Deputy Warden Corbett were at once sent for. After taking a few soundings McCullough decided that the wall was so thin that it could be broken in with a sledge.

Extra guards were held in readiness, as it might happen that if the breaking down of the partition led to a subterranean avenue, the prisoners might rush to escape. In fact this idea seemed to take possession of the prisoners' minds, for, when orders were given to break in the wall with a sledge they crowded about the spot under a pretense of curiosity. McCullough took in the situation at once and ordered the men back to their cells under charge of the guard. Subsequent observations showed the wisdom of this order.

When the yard was clear, the Warden, who is a powerful man, swung the heavy sledge against the wall, and after a few blows it fell in and revealed a cave in the rock about twelve feet long and eight feet high. Mr. McCullough, accompanied by Deputy Corbett and three guards, stepped inside the cave and immediately came out again with a great rush. They were followed by a shower which did not come from the clouds, and three black and white, striped animals known to science as the North American skunk.

These three animals took possession of the yard at once, but did not injure the prisoners, as they were all safe in their cells, out of harm's way. A less thoughtful Warden would have a yard full of men for the skunks to monkey with.

After the little animals were shot it was discovered that a sort of burrowing hole led from above ground to the cave in the quarry.

Dr. Harkness was at once telegraphed for, and all hands came in and purchased new suits of clothes of Blumenthal & Cohn.

Diving Down a Shaft.

In a recent interview with a San Francisco Call reporter, P. A. Humbert, formerly Superintendent of the Bullion mine, made a statement, of which the following is a brief summary:

"I offered to descend the Gould & Curry shaft and rescue the victims in a diving machine, and telegraphed the offer to Mr. Patton, but his response was that the shaft had caved; this, therefore, barred out any help in that direction.

"Now, I claim that had several divers been used, the men on the upper level would certainly have been reached long before the rescuing party got to them; several could have penetrated into the drifts though filled with gas, and absolutely packed the men out. I am willing to put a diver on, walk five feet under water or go into a room filled with the most deadly gas and remain for over an hour. For lighting apparatus I use an electric incandescent light, with a portable battery attached."

Gigantic Ten Show Combination.

The great and marvelous Calabrian Orondo Troupe, from the Imperial Russian Gymnasium in Moscow, are in the country, and traveling with the great John Robinson's Mammoth Three Ring Show. They are Wizards of wonder. The ladies turn somersaults in flying from one trapeze to another, sixty feet in mid air, and one of them actually turns a tripple somersault into the arms of the other, on the extreme opposite side of the vast pavilion. The daring acts of these brothers and sisters are said to outrival all that Leotard, the Ravels or the Hanlons ever accomplished. At Carson July 25.

—Almost everybody is up at the Lake.

The Bicycle Club.

The members of the Carson Wheelmen held a meeting Sunday for the purpose of making arrangements towards forming a permanent organization which it is expected will be consummated next Sunday. Dwight Edwards was temporarily elected Vice President. A very tasty uniform was adopted. It consists of a light colored loose over-shirt, navy-blue knee-breeches, stockings of the same color, black silk jockey cap, necktie and regular bicycle shoes. Messrs. Day, Peters, Frohman and Davis were appointed a Committee to wait upon the Board of City Trustees and the City Marshal, and explain that the members of the Club will so govern themselves by rules while riding on the streets as not to frighten any fractious horses. This was deemed necessary as threats have been made by several country people, to have an ordinance passed forbidding wheelmen the pleasure of riding on Main Street, which is about the only good street in Carson for bicycling. By properly representing the matter to the authorities the APPEAL believes that satisfactory arrangements can be made for all parties concerned without the need of passing any restrictive ordinances.

Bishop Whitaker's Visit.

St. Peter's Church was visited on Sunday by Rt. Rev. Bishop Whitaker, it being his annual visit. There were crowded congregations both morning and evening. In the afternoon the Bishop visited the State Prison with the Chaplain, and took part in the services. In the evening he administered the rite of confirmation to seven persons, and followed with a timely discourse on the duties one owed to the Church. The Bishop held his congregation by an earnest, sensible talk. He makes no attempt at oratorical display, but talks as one friend would talk to another on a matter in which both were deeply interested, a style of preaching which is the most effective of all eloquence, because it reaches all. The Bishop left for his school at Reno yesterday morning.

The following are the names of the persons receiving the rite of confirmation: Miss Emily Hartman, Miss Maggie Bartlett, Miss Edith Osborn, Miss Lillie Hawley, William Davis, Frank Murphy and Phillip V. Mighels.

'Measure for Measure.'

The Reno Gazette says: A moment's pause will impel even the most doubting to acknowledge that Mrs. Langtry worked hard to acquire the skill and excellence which enables her to measure herself with the greatest actresses of the day—most of them with much longer technical study and experience.

If the figures published a few days ago in the APPEAL relative to Mrs. Langtry's measurements are correct, she will be quite well able to measure herself against the greatest actresses of this, or any other day. They may have much longer technical experience but length is not the only consideration, they must be well proportioned to make a perfect figure.

Mrs. Langtry.

Tomorrow Mrs. Langtry better known as the Jersey Lily will reach this city. In some places where this famous beauty has visited a noisy and vulgar crowd has followed her about the streets annoying her with shouts and insults. The fact that she has achieved an international notoriety gives no one the right to insult or annoy her. She comes here in a purely professional capacity and she should be judged in that capacity. Let it not be said that there is any one in Carson City so badly bred as to subject her to annoyance.

The Vitriol Case.

SACRAMENTO, July 15th.—Papers were filed this morning in this county by Libbie S. Petrie's attorneys for a suit for divorce from her husband, Charles R. Petrie. The alleged causes are cruelty and the adultery of the defendant with Mrs. Roselle, the woman who threw vitriol in Petrie's face at Los Angeles, recently.
